Notice.

HONDO, TEXAS, Jan. 28, 1919. This is to advise the farmers of Medina county that the half-rate freight rate of feed stuffs has been continued until March the first, so those of you who need feed should order so it will reach you by March the first.

I would like to suggest to the farmers of my county that every farmer should plant a patch of honey drip cane for syrup purposes, as this variety will produce more juice and will make a better quality of syrup than any

Every farmer who can should increase his meat supply by raising a hundred chickens. That would mean six hundred pounds of meat on each

Judge T. M. Paschal Dead.

Judge Thomas Moore Paschal, a well known lawyer of San Antonio, died at noon Tuerday in New York City of broncho-pneumonia.

Judge Paschat was born in Alexandria, La., and was 73 years of age. He received a liberal education and graduated from Center College, Danville, Ky., in 1869. He began the practice of law with his father, Judge I. A. Paschal, who was a celebrated jurist and who built the first railroad in this state. He was elected judge of the 38th Judicial District and returned to this office unopposed for sixteen years. He resigned his judgeship and was elected congressman from this district After his term in Congress he returned to his practice at law. In latter years he followed other pursuits, and was in New York to exploit his invention of the chemical heater when he contracted influenza which developed into broncho-pneumonia.

Something of an Analogy Between That Instrument and the Trumpets Sounded at Jericho.

A glass bar set vibrating lengthwise by a sound will smash to pieces if the sound rise to a high enough key-that s. if the number of vibrations becomes such as iron and steel, will break like glass under the rhythmic shock of oftrepeated feeble blows. For this reason when regiments march across a metal bridge they are always ordered to break step, in order that the impact of their feet may not set up rhythmic vibrations in the structure,

Many persons who have a mania for explaining in a materialistic way all the wonders related in the Bible have conjectured that when the walls of Jericho fell under the trumpet blasts of Joshua's army these were keyed to set up in the walls precisely the vibrations that would shatter them. And it may be said that this explanation is by no means confined to materialists, for this very opinion was held also by the old Jewish rabbis, as well as by St. Augustine, St. Jerome and St. Ambrose. But Father Athanasius Kircher, S. J., in his learned treatise, "Musurgia universalis" (book IX), showed the insufficiency of such a physical explanation and concluded that only a miracle could have produced that ef-

Nicolas Flamel, writing in La Nature on the acoustics of speaking trumpets, cites the above-mentioned authors and mentions the highly interesting fact that a great French scientist showed the officers of the troops that recaptured the fort of Douaumont a year ago a way to use the bugle. Until then and ever since the Germans dug themselves in after their defeat on the Marne the bugles had been silent, as they could be heard equally well in the enemy's trenches. M. Flamel adds that this scientist has since then made great improvements in the use of the bugle at the front, but military exigencies forbid going into details.

Seaman Worthy of His Uniform.

A cry for help never goes unheeded when there is a man of the United States navy standing by. No matter where-on land, at sea, in calm or storm, daylight or dark-he is quick to respond and ready to take the chance that makes a rescue possible. An instance of this is reported from Newport, R. I., where the bravery of Robertson McGregor, fireman, third class, attached to the naval training school at that place, has just been rewarded by a letter of commendation from Secretary Daniels. It was night and unusually dark when McGregor heard the cry of help coming from the bay. Rushing to the water, he located the sound, and without any further hesitation jumped overboard and swam in the direction of the cry. There were no more cries, but, sensing his direction, the fireman kept on swimming until he came across a body. It was an apprentice seaman, who had become unconscious in his fight for life. Although still wearing his clothing, McGregor took hold of his man and brought him safely to the shore. This man only enlisted in the navy last May, having been recruited at Albany, N. Y. His mother, Mrs. Margaret Mc-Gregor, lives on Maple street at Lee, Mass.

Boys at Girls' School.

The instructors in the branch of the Girls' Industrial school, which meets at the Flanner Guild, were surprised when the school opened a few weeks ago to find a class of boys ready and anxious to begin work.

"Don't you understand this school is for girls only?" asked one of the teach-

"Yes, we heard that, but what's the difference? We want to learn to sew." The teachers were in a quandary, but finally decided to give the boys their first lesson with the needle; but the sight of the boys sewing caused the girls much merriment, and made so much confusion that it was decided to bar them. They appeared the next Saturday, however, and begged so hard to be taken in that they are now regular fixtures. The work they do is equal to that of the girls, and the teachers are proud of them. They take more than the usual amount of interest and spend all of the time they are in school at work.-Indianapolis News.

Many Americans Enter Canada.

Three and a half times as many immigrants from the United States into western Canada arrived during the first nine months of last year as during the same period in 1915, according to figures furnished by the department of immigration. The number of such persons for the first nine months of the year 1915 was 8,327; for 1916, 14,-022, and for 1917, 29,918. The amount of cash and effects brought in by these immigrants does not show the same proportionate increase for this year over 1915 as did the number of persons. The total of cash and effects was $2,156,876 for 1915, $3,319,943 for 1916 and $5,914,033 for 1917.

A WORD ABOUT THE KIDNEYS

BY DOCTOR WATSON.

People are easily frightened when they think something is the matter with their lungs or heart, and well they may be; but few people understand the dangers of diseased kidneys. These organs have a duty of vital importance to perform, and if they are diseased, there is no telling how or where the symptoms may appear. The kidneys are filters, and when they are healthy they remove the poisons from the blood and purify it. When the kidneys are diseased, the poisons are spread every-Alamo City Tuesday on business visiting her sister. Co-operation in Marketing Farm-Products.

By FLETCHER DAVIS.

Field Agent State Department of Agriculture.

Among the several factors that enter into the conduct of all productive enterprises, none is more important than that of distribution. The factors of equipment, material supply, labor, and finance for the manufacture of a product, are of no more importance than the sale or distribution of an article. The product must be well sold, must command a price affording an attractive profit over and above all items of cost, before any enterprise can succeed. Without this profit- efficient equipment, cheap raw material, competent and skilled labor, abundant and cheap money, and all other things being equal to the desalesmanship means the prosperity or the bankruptcy of all productive enterprise.

A Consolidated Rural School in Texas.

Three Districts Combine in Organization of High-Grade School-Facilities Include 10 Acre School-Farm, Homes for Teachers, Community "Play House"- Practical Work in Home Making, Gardening. Animal Hus-

In the southwestern part of the State of Texas, in Medina County, 16 miles from the nearest railway, situated in the open country, is a most interesting and progressive rural consolidated school.

In 1912 three rural school districts combined and selected 10 acres of land as nearly as possible to the geographical center of the 125 square miles that comprises the new consolidated district. The property valuation was approximately half a million dollars. The school enrolls 105 white children and 5 teachers. Some of the children come a distance of 7 miles. They come in all sorts of conveyances, including an automobile, operated at the expense of the district to transport pupils who otherwise would not be provided with transportation.

Besides the 10 acres of land that comprise the school plant, there is a comfortable home for the principle and also a home for the three lady teachers, a tool house, a barn for the horses used by the children in coming to school, a good school building, and a separate auditorium which was constructed at the cost of $3,000. This is called the committee's Play House, and is really the social center of the district. The school conducts many evening entertainments, has a good male quartet, victrola, and above all, there seems to be a good healthy cooperative spirit with the school and people of the community who use the building at other times for informal school gatherings.

INFLUENCE OF THE PRINCIPAL.

A very competent and energetic principal of the school does all in his power to extend the influence of the agricultural department of the school among the farmers of the district, and acre farm has been a powerful factor in stimulating home gardening among the patrons of the school. We need schools of this kind in every state, schools that influence the home and are powerful factors for good in the community. Much depends upon the people who really show a desire for such effective up-to-date schools and are willing to pay the price by liberal taxation. - School Life, Washington,

Form Farmers' Institute.

MERCEDES, TEXAS, Jan. 27. - Followinw a lecture on "Rural Organization" by Fletcher Davis, in which he pointed out some of the many advantages of organization to accrue to individual farmers, to the community and to the state, through the organization of farmers into community clubs, designated by law as Farmers' Institutes, temperary organization of an institute was effected here this afternoon with a goodly membership of progressive and substantial farmers. Officers were elected as follows: F. Waldron, president; T. J. Fikes, vice-president; and M. B. Murray, secretary and business manager.

Mr. Davis, who is field agent of the State Department of Agriculture, was listened to with close attention throughout his discourse, and his suggestion that a local organization be effected was acceded to without a dissenting voice. Several spoke briefly, giving their endorsement to the purpose of the organization. - San Antonio Ex-

Resolved

That peace will find us backing Uncle Sam as strongly as we backed him in war.

That between now and April we will lay every possible stone of the groundwork for the Fifth Liberty Loan and leave no act undone which will tend to keep alive and, if possible quicken the consciousness of the nation that Saving and Thrift are Peace essentials as well as War essentials.

That we will exert our every effort to stop trafficking in bonds of the first four loans and will keep our War Savings

That we will carry out our War Savings Pledge if that is unfulfilled, and make and keep new Savings Pledges this year. That we will work tooth and nail from now till the last day of the April drive to oversubscribe that Fifth Liberty Loan.

That we will finish our job. $4444444

PAY YOUR PLEDGE; GET THE THRIFT HABIT

All pledges made to invest in United States Government War Savings Stamps during 1918 have been automatically extended to 1919 by the Government, which has made official announcement that persons who, for any reason, did not complete their pledges by December 31, 1918, may and are expected to liquidate these pledges by investing in War Savings Stamps of the new 1919 issue.

The 1919 United States Government War Savings Stamps are blue in color and a trifle smaller than the War Savings Stamps issued by the Government last year. They bear a likeness of Benjamin Franklin, the American apostle of thrift and economy. The 1919 War Savings Stamps. which yield their owners four per cent interest, compounded quarterly, may be obtained from any postoffice bank, or other authorized agent. The price of each 1919 War Savings Stamp is $4.12 during January. The cost price increases regularly one the cost is $4.13, in March $4.14 and

The same old Thrift Stamps and Thrift Cards used last year remain in use during 1919 and filled Thrift Cards, that is, Thrift Cards on which sixteen Thrift Stamps have been affixed, may be exchanged for 1919 War Savings Stamps upon the payment of the few additional cents which represent the difference between the price of a War Savings teen Thrift Stamps. This difference is 12 cents in January, 13 cents in February, 14 cents in March, and Purchasers of 1919 War & Savings Stamps should bear in mind that 1913 War Savings Stamps are to be atfixed only to 1919 War Savings Car tificates. Although one may have a 1918 War Savings Certificate (a War Savings Certificate is the parchment on which War Savings Stamps are affixed) which has some blank or unfiled space on it, such 1918 Certificate should not have 1919 War Savings Stamps pasted on it; nor should 1918 War Savings Stamps be even if the relator does." - Case and | placed on the new 1919 War Savings Certificate. Frank M. Smith, Federal District Director of War Loans and Savings, has issued earnest requests to the public to note carefully the few simple directions outlined. He also pointed out recently that should a person be in doubt about any of the details of War Savings methods a word to the local secretary of the War Savings Society or any postmaster will insure the matter being made clear.

All War Savings pledges made in 1918 are personal, binding obligations made to the Treasury Department, and the Government expects the completion of all 1918 pledges by the purchase of 1919 War Savings Stamps.

The American people have learned to make their savings count for them. The War has taught them the lesson of Thrift; the real joy of saving is theirs forever if they keep in mind the knowledge of economy gained through the investment in United States Government securities.

Buy War Savings Stamps and the joy of saving is yours.
